

ABSTRACT

A method and apparatus for transferring heat from an outer edge of a substrate holder to a temperature-controlled shield ring surrounding the substrate in a plasma reactor. Additionally, heat may be transferred from an edge of the substrate to the shield ring as well.